

Gregory Pittman is a state certified Licensed Chemical Dependency Counselor at Lifetime Recovery with over 4 years' experience in counseling, healing, and rehabilitation. He has also worked at Alpha Home Treatment Center and San Antonio Recovery Center. Greg uses his own personal sobriety journey in addition to his professional expertise in the field to help recovering addicts and their families.

Before finding his passion helping and inspiring his clients towards recovery, Greg obtained multiple Associate Degrees and has a Certification in Addiction Studies from Alamo Colleges. He earned his Bachelors in Criminal Justice from Texas A&M University San Antonio this December. Greg hopes to continue to become an expert in Chemical Dependency and counseling to serve as a powerful enabler in motivating his clients' success in mental health.

When Greg is not helping others, he is studying psychology, mythology, spirituality and music. He is a full-time father to his 3-year-old son. Greg enjoys spending time with his family and can even play a mean Beatles' cover on his guitar or piano.

Greg's passionate and heartfelt approach to substance use treatment and mental health aims to increase awareness and inspire others.
